Where Is It? — House Index

"Mom, where are the batteries?" is a daily question with no owner. Give every common item one answer, written down, taped where all can see it.

---

1. Do NOT start from scratch: walk your kitchen and utility room once and write what you remember most.
2. Keep the page on the fridge or inside a cabinet door everyone opens anyway.
3. Each time somebody asks "where is it?", after you answer, add a row. The index grows itself.

Tip: always write locations the same way — "kitchen drawer 3" not "the good drawer." Future-you reads them literally.

Household name (optional): Started on: Page 1 of:

ITEM (WRITE A–Z AS IT GROWS)	WHERE IT LIVES	ITEM (BACK HALF)	WHERE IT LIVES
Batteries (AA/AAA/9V)
Light bulbs
Scissors
Tape (packing / clear)
Flashlight
Spare keys
First aid kit
Phone chargers
Umbrellas
Extension cords
Fuse / breaker panel
Fuses and lighters
Sewing / repair kit
Envelopes + stamps
Birthday cards
Wrapping paper
Bicycles/Helmets
Board games
Pet supplies
Winter gloves

Keep the pre-written rows that fit your life and erase the rest — the index belongs to your house, not anyone else's. A second blank copy continues rows 40 onward.
